Momentum Grows for Statewide Government Transparency with Over 470 Local Government and School Districts Partnering with OhioCheckbook.com

Press Release - Ohio Treasurer's Office

JACKSON – Ohio Treasurer Josh Mandel announced today the launch of the Jackson City School District, the Village of Oak Hill, Jefferson Township and Jackson Township online checkbooks on OhioCheckbook.com. Also announced today is a partnership with Liberty Township and the Ohio Treasurer's office to post their spending online on OhioCheckbook.com. In December 2014, Treasurer Mandel launched OhioCheckbook.com, which sets a new national standard for government transparency and for the first time in Ohio history puts all state spending information on the internet. OhioCheckbook.com recently earned Ohio the number one ranking in the country for government transparency.

The Ohio Treasurer's office was joined by Jackson City Schools Treasurer Rachel King, Superintendent Phil Howard and Liberty Township Fiscal Officer Jill Newman. Jackson City Schools is the first school district in Jackson County to post their spending online, Jefferson Township and Jackson Township are the first townships in the county to post their spending online and the Village of Oak Hill is the first village in Jackson County to post their spending on OhioCheckbook.com.

The following is a breakdown of today's local government sites:

Jackson City Schools' online checkbook includes over 135,000 individual transactions that represent more than $88 million of total spending over the past four fiscal years.

The Village of Oak Hill's online checkbook includes over 13,000 individual transactions that represent more than $4 million of total spending over the past three years.

Jefferson Township's online checkbook includes over 2,000 individual transactions that represent more than $1 million of total spending over the past three years.

Jackson Township's online checkbook includes over 1,000 individual transactions that represent more than $899,000 of total spending over the past three years.

"I believe the people of Jackson County have a right to know how their tax money is being spent, and I applaud local leaders here for partnering with my office to post the finances on OhioCheckbook.com," said Treasurer Mandel. "By posting local government spending online, we are empowering taxpayers across Ohio to hold public officials accountable."

"We don't want to operate under the cover of darkness and we believe that full disclosure and transparency is what we should provide to all the stakeholders of the Jackson City School District community," said Jackson City Schools Treasurer Rachel King. "We are excited that the OhioCheckbook.com website can accomplish such a feat effectively."

"We are proud to be joining Treasurer Mandel's transparency initiative," said Village of Oak Hill and Jefferson Township Fiscal Officer Jim Slone. "This information belongs to the taxpayers and we are excited to be partnering with this free project to bring this innovative, easy and engaging program to our citizens.”

“This platform promises to serve as a great educational resource,” said Jackson Township Fiscal Officer Janna Osborne. “I believe the township’s citizens and trustees can use this tool to better understand how money is being spent.”

On April 7, 2015 Treasurer Mandel sent a letter to 18,062 local government and school officials representing 3,962 local governments throughout the state calling on them to place their checkbook level data on OhioCheckbook.com and extending an invitation to partner with his office at no cost to local governments. These local governments include cities, counties, townships, schools, library districts and other special districts.

A large coalition of statewide and local government organizations have expressed support for OhioCheckbook.com and local government transparency, including:

- Ohio Municipal League
- Ohio Township Association
- Ohio Association of School Business Officials
- Buckeye Association of School Administrators
- County Commissioner Association of Ohio
- County Auditor Association of Ohio
- Ohio Newspaper Association
- Ohio Society of CPAs
- Buckeye Institute
- Common Cause Ohio

OhioCheckbook.com was launched on December 2, 2014, marking the first time in Ohio history when citizens could actually see every expenditure in state government. Since its launch, OhioCheckbook.com has received overwhelming support from newspapers and groups across the state and, as of January 12, 2016 there have been more than 430,000 total searches on the site.

OhioCheckbook.com displays more than $496 billion in spending over the past eight years, including more than 135 million transactions. The website includes cutting-edge features such as:

- “Google-style” contextual search capabilities, to allow users to sort by keyword, department, category or vendor;
- Fully dynamic interactive charts to drill down on state spending;
- Functionality to compare state spending year-over-year or among agencies; and,
- Capability to share charts or checks with social media networks, and direct contact for agency fiscal offices.

In March 2015, the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (U.S. PIRG) released their annual “Following the Money 2015” report and Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one transparency ranking in the country for providing online access to government spending data. Ohio was prominently featured in the report after climbing from 46th to 1st in spending transparency as a result of Treasurer Mandel's release of OhioCheckbook.com. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio received a perfect score of 100 points this year — the highest score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.

The Treasurer's office is partnering with OpenGov, a leading Silicon Valley government technology company, to provide residents of Ohio the ability to view and search local government expenditures in a user-friendly, digital format. "Ohio is setting the standard for financial transparency on an unprecedented scale. We are excited to partner with the Treasurer's office to bring world-class technology to communities large and small across the state," said Zachary Bookman, CEO of OpenGov.
