Momentum Grows for Statewide Government Transparency with Over 470 Local Government and School Districts Partnering with OhioCheckbook.com

Press Release - Ohio Treasurer's Office

CHILLICOTHE – Ohio Treasurer Josh Mandel announced today the launch of the Huntington Local School District and the Jefferson Township online checkbooks on OhioCheckbook.com. In December 2014, Treasurer Mandel launched OhioCheckbook.com, which sets a new national standard for government transparency and for the first time in Ohio history puts all state spending information on the internet. OhioCheckbook.com recently earned Ohio the number one ranking in the country for government transparency.

The Ohio Treasurer's Office was joined by Huntington Local Schools Superintendent Keith Stevenson, Huntington Local Schools Treasurer Becki Peden and Jefferson Township Trustee Jamie Barker.

Jefferson Township was the first township in Ross County to announce a partnership with the Treasurer's office to post their spending online and is the second township in Ross County to launch their local transparency site. Huntington Local Schools is the first school district in the county to post their spending on OhioCheckbook.com.

The following is a breakdown of today's local government sites:

Huntington Local Schools' online checkbook includes over 29,000 individual transactions that represent more than $45 million of total spending over the past three fiscal years.

Jefferson Township's online checkbook includes over 1,500 individual transactions that represent more than $397,000 of total spending over fiscal year 2014.

"I believe the people of Ross County have a right to know how their tax money is being spent, and I applaud local leaders here for partnering with my office to post the finances on OhioCheckbook.com," said Treasurer Mandel. "By posting local government spending online, we are empowering taxpayers across Ohio to hold public officials accountable."

"The Huntington Local School District is pleased to partner with the Ohio Treasurer's office by participating in the OhioCheckbook.com project," said Huntington Local Schools Treasurer Becki Peden. "The district is committed to transparency for our community and students. This project will allow our taxpayers to see how their hard-earned dollars are being spent to educate the children of Huntington Township."

"It is our duty as elected officials to be transparent," said Jefferson Township Trustee Jamie Barker. "Now, with a few clicks of the mouse they can become knowledgeable about how their hard earned money is being spent at the local level."

On April 7, 2015 Treasurer Mandel sent a letter to 18,062 local government and school officials representing 3,962 local governments throughout the state calling on them to place their checkbook level data on OhioCheckbook.com and extending an invitation to partner with his office at no cost to local governments. These local governments include cities, counties, townships, schools, library districts and other special districts.

A large coalition of statewide and local government organizations have expressed support for OhioCheckbook.com and local government transparency, including:

- Ohio Municipal League
- Ohio Township Association
- Ohio Association of School Business Officials
- Buckeye Association of School Administrators
- County Commissioner Association of Ohio
- County Auditor Association of Ohio
- Ohio Newspaper Association
- Ohio Society of CPAs
- Buckeye Institute
- Common Cause Ohio

OhioCheckbook.com was launched on December 2, 2014, marking the first time in Ohio history when citizens could actually see every expenditure in state government. Since its launch, OhioCheckbook.com has received overwhelming support from newspapers and groups across the state and, as of January 12, 2016 there have been more than 430,000 total searches on the site.

OhioCheckbook.com displays more than $496 billion in spending over the past eight years, including more than 135 million transactions. The website includes cutting-edge features such as:

- “Google-style” contextual search capabilities, to allow users to sort by keyword, department, category or vendor;
- Fully dynamic interactive charts to drill down on state spending;
- Functionality to compare state spending year-over-year or among agencies; and,
- Capability to share charts or checks with social media networks, and direct contact for agency fiscal offices.

In March 2015, the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (U.S. PIRG) released their annual “Following the Money 2015” report and Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one transparency ranking in the country for providing online access to government spending data. Ohio was prominently featured in the report after climbing from 46th to 1st in spending transparency as a result of Treasurer Mandel’s release of OhioCheckbook.com. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio received a perfect score of 100 points this year – the highest score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.

The Treasurer’s office is partnering with OpenGov, a leading Silicon Valley government technology company, to provide residents of Ohio the ability to view and search local government expenditures in a user-friendly, digital format. “Ohio is setting the
