Momentum Grows for Statewide Government Transparency with Over 670 Local Government and School Districts Partnering with OhioCheckbook.com

Press Release - Ohio Treasurer's Office

NEW KNOXVILLE – Ohio Treasurer Josh Mandel announced today the launch of the Village of New Knoxville online checkbook on OhioCheckbook.com. In December 2014, Treasurer Mandel launched OhioCheckbook.com, which sets a new national standard for government transparency and for the first time in Ohio history puts all state spending information on the internet. OhioCheckbook.com recently earned Ohio the number one government transparency ranking in the country for a second year in a row.

The Ohio Treasurer's office was joined at today's announcement by Village of New Knoxville Mayor Keith Leffel and Village Administrator Rex Katterheinrich. The Village of New Knoxville is the third local government in Auglaize County to post their spending on OhioCheckbook.com.

New Knoxville's online checkbook includes over 17,000 individual transactions that represent more than $5.5 million of total spending over the past four years.

"I believe the people of Auglaize County have a right to know how their tax money is being spent, and I applaud local leaders here for partnering with my office to post the finances on OhioCheckbook.com," said Treasurer Mandel. "By posting local government spending online, we are empowering taxpayers across Ohio to hold public officials accountable."

"The Village of New Knoxville is proud to open our checkbook and increase transparency," said Fiscal Officer Abby Homan. "We believe taxpayers have the right to know how their hard earned dollars are being spent."

"I appreciate Treasurer Mandel's leadership to make government more transparent, and I applaud the local leaders of New Knoxville for partnering with the Treasurer on this effort to keep their governments accountable to the taxpayers," said Senate President Keith Faber.

"Treasurer Mandel has provided a safe and secure option for our local communities to ensure taxpayers know how their dollars are spent," said State Representative Jim Buchy. "New Knoxville village government has continued their trend of working for good government by signing up for the online checkbook."

On April 7, 2015 Treasurer Mandel sent a letter to 18,062 local government and school officials representing 3,962 local governments throughout the state calling on them to place their checkbook level data on OhioCheckbook.com and extending an invitation to partner with his office at no cost to local governments. These local governments include cities, counties, townships, schools, library districts and other special districts.

OhioCheckbook.com was launched on December 2, 2014, marking the first time in Ohio history when citizens could actually see every expenditure in state government. Since its launch, OhioCheckbook.com has received overwhelming support from newspapers and groups across the state and, as of May 3, 2016 there have been more than 524,000 total searches on the site.

OhioCheckbook.com displays more than $517 billion in spending over the past eight years, including more than 142 million transactions. The website includes cutting-edge features such as:

- “Google-style” contextual search capabilities, to allow users to sort by keyword, department, category or vendor;
- Fully dynamic interactive charts to drill down on state spending;
- Functionality to compare state spending year-over-year or among agencies; and,
- Capability to share charts or checks with social media networks, and direct contact for agency fiscal offices.

In March 2015, the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (U.S. PIRG) released their annual “Following the Money 2015” report and Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one transparency ranking in the country for providing online access to government spending data. Ohio was prominently featured in the report after climbing from 46th to 1st in spending transparency as a result of Treasurer Mandel’s release of OhioCheckbook.com. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio received a perfect score of 100 points this year – the highest score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.

In April 2016, U.S. PIRG announced that Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one government transparency ranking in the country for the second consecutive year in a row. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio again received the highest perfect score of 100 points this year – marking the second time in two years Ohio received the highest possible score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.

The Treasurer’s office is partnering with OpenGov, a leading Silicon Valley government technology company, to provide residents of Ohio the ability to view and search local government expenditures in a user-friendly, digital format. “Ohio is setting the
